A police officer in a dark uniform and helmet is seen from behind, sitting on a motorcycle. The officer is looking towards the rear of a dark-colored SUV. # Your Ticket to Automation

Increase productivity and revenue, cut costs and improve officer safety with Intermec e-Citation Solutions

With increasing budget constraints, stress on already limited resources and the high safety risks facing field officers, every second counts when issuing and processing citations.

The hand-written traffic and parking ticket process can be time consuming and error-prone. It is subject to handwriting interpretation and requires the extra step of data entry into the traffic enforcement system. Reducing errors can significantly decrease the number of tickets dismissed and increase payment yield without actually writing any more tickets.

You need automated solutions that increase productivity, efficiency, revenue and most importantly officer safety while cutting costs for the department. Solutions that can work with your existing technology infrastructure and does not require time-consuming implementations and costly training programs.

Intermec understands the momentous—and critical issues facing law enforcement. We realize that you need solutions to increase productivity, efficiency and revenue while cutting costs and increasing officer safety.
